

When you mix the warm comfort of hand carved oak with the formal "crispness" of marble the result is this incredibly versatile French Louis XV style antique chest of drawers. This piece strikes the perfect balance between formal and casual styles. The gentle curves created by the bombe shape lends itself to a free more casual feeling, which is then offset by meticulous hand carvings and unique bronze hardware. The beautiful marble topping this chest not only provides a durable carefree surface but also gives the piece a finished, elegant look. Whether you will use this antique commode in your entryway or great room as a dramatic focal point or to store clothes and linens in the bedroom this beautiful chest of drawers will elevate the style of any area. From the French region of Renne to the discerning decor of your home this chest of drawers will be a source of pride for decades to come.
