

The tools of the draftsman have not changed a great deal over the years. This set is like many other sets when having to do with functionality. Where this set of drafting tools excels is in their quality and aesthetic beauty. The finely machined brass, wood and bone tools just reek and feel of quality. This fine set is stored in a rosewood box where the tools are nestled in a velvet form. If you are trying to add an unique feel to a home/business office or the shelves of a den this set of antique draftsman tool will do nicely.
