

This pair of mid 19th century English armchairs are not only pleasant to look at but are also quite comfortable to sit in too. The classically designed William and Mary styled armchairs would fit comfortably in any den, living room or even a bedroom. The upholstered seat, back and arms all add to the comfort of these chairs. The hand carved legs and stretcher give the chairs a refined and slightly formal feel. In short these chairs strike a beautiful balance between form and function!
